Ride D - Dolgellau and Machynlleth

- This is a straightforward route that again follows National Cycle Route 8 southward.
- The route starts in the car park of the Glanwnion Leisure Centre, Dolgellau. Cycle to the junction with the main road passing the Fire and Bus Stations. Turn left and first right up the hill. Veer left where the road forks and continue up the hill.
- After completing the ascent of the hill you will soon cycle past Tabor Chapel. At the next right-hand junction you will notice a National Cycle Route 8 sign. Follow the sign right to ride along a winding surfaced lane which eventually by-passes on the right the farmyard of Hafod-y-Meirch. Continue along a purpose-built provision passing below Gwerngrraig Farm after crossing a small river. After the farm the route bears left descending on a surfaced access road to the A487.
- At this point access to a provision for cyclists can be located. This continues parallel to the road arriving at the recommended highway crossing point. Cross the highway with care and ascend the hill-side on a surfaced public road. After the summit take care on the long descent which is initially steep. Follow the road straight ahead to reach Aberllefenni bearing right towards Corris.
- In Corris turn first left following the signs for Ceinws and Esgairgeilog. Ride past the Centre For Alternative Technology. Continue along road to a junction with a left turn for Llanwrin. Cycle right over a bridge to the junction with the busy A487.
- At the A487 bear left taking care on this busy section of trunk road. After a short distance leave the highway on the left along an off-road provision down to the Millennium Bridge. Cycle across the bridge over Afon Dyfi and then alongside the river to rejoin the A487 after an access gate.
- Cross directly over the trunk road taking care to go left along the purpose-built cycle provision which takes the cyclist to the outskirts of Machynlleth.
- To return to Dolgellau we recommend one of two options. You can utilise the Cambrian Rail service to Barmouth from where a ride along the Mawddach Trail would return you to Dolgellau. Alternatively, you can cycle back along the previously described route.
